fresh thinking

It all started with a little neighbourhood eatery called Rock Creek. Opening in Regina in 2006, it was founder Stu Rathwell's dream to create an upscale yet unpretentious restaurant with a casual lounge, a fun upscale menu and an inviting interior.

Rock Creek's appealing West-coast-inspired urban menu and warm contemporary design was just what people were looking for. The concept was such a success he was soon approached by others who wanted to operate their own Rock Creek locations.

Today Rock Creek is expanding across the west with locations scattered across Saskatchewan.
